

Björn Borg is searching for a fast running IT administrator

So, you love running? So do we at Björn Borg. In fact, we love all kind of physical activity. We believe it makes you better, not only physically, but also in your profession. We live to create underwear and sport apparel that has the potential to change the game, both on and off the field, gym or court. At our office, we challenge each other to always strive a little bit higher, to go a little bit further. To push our own limits. So if your ambition is not only to be a fast runner, but to also to become an even faster one, you are more than welcome to send us your application.

We are looking for you who...

- have at least 3 year's experience of working with IT-support
- Have a basic education of Swedish gymnasium or similar
- have experience from working with system management and Azure (Cloud)
- have high competence within Windows and network
- speaks and writes very well, both Swedish and English
- reacts to laziness with activeness
- loves clear goals and to set high ambitions as well as a tough workout

In this role you will be responsible for IT-support, system management and IT administration within the Björn Borg group (both offices and stores with approx. 150 users). You work in close cooperation with two colleagues in the IT department (Head of IT and System administrator) as well as with suppliers within IT in the company.

The position is full time placed at our global headquarters in Stockholm, where 80 other colleagues from different departments within Björn Borg will be happy to get to know you and work closely together with you. We prioritize being a great place to work, which is a team work build of great passionate people – and includes getting stronger together in our weekly sportshour.
